

Information sheet:

Beneficiary nomination

When to use this form

Use this form to make a binding or non-binding beneficiary nomination, or to change or cancel an existing binding or non-binding nomination. Generally, your beneficiary will receive your death benefit in the event of your death.

Nominating your beneficiaries

In the event of your death while you are a member of a superannuation account or a retirement account, we will pay a death benefit. Your death benefit is equal to the value of your account plus any insured death cover (if applicable).

- If you are aged 18 years and over, you can nominate one or more beneficiaries to receive your death benefit. Generally, all beneficiaries must be your dependant(s), or your Estate.

Note: Under superannuation law you cannot nominate anyone else as a beneficiary.

- If you are under age 18, you or your guardian cannot make a death benefit nomination.

You can choose how you want your death benefit paid. You have a choice of:

Option 1: Binding nomination

Option 2: Non-binding (or preferred) nomination

Option 3: No nomination.

Tax implications

The amount of tax that a person will have to pay if they receive any of your death benefit might be different depending on whether you nominate them as a nominated beneficiary, or whether you nominate your Estate and they receive the payment through your Estate. This is because of different definitions in tax and superannuation laws.

For example:

All children are “dependants” in superannuation law and can be nominated as your beneficiary—in tax law, only a child under 18 years of age is a “dependant” (unless they are a financial dependant), and may pay a different rate of tax to a non-dependant child.

Therefore, before you consider making a nomination, we strongly recommend that you discuss your nomination with your financial planner.

Option 1 – Binding nomination

If you provide us with a binding nomination that satisfies all legal requirements, then we must pay your benefit after your death to the beneficiaries you have nominated and in the proportions you have specified. However, we are not required to pay your death benefit in accordance with your binding nomination if we are aware either:

- that doing so would breach a court order, or
- that the giving of, or failure to change, a nomination was a breach of a court order.

One of the legal requirements for a binding nomination is that you must sign and date the nomination in the presence of 2 witnesses who are over age 18, and who are not nominated beneficiaries. Accordingly, we will automatically treat your nomination as though it was a non-binding nomination (see Option 2 - Non-binding (or preferred) nomination) if:

- your binding nomination does not satisfy this or another legal requirement, or
- you do not sign or complete the binding nomination correctly

When we receive your nomination we will not check if your nominated beneficiaries are your dependants or your legal personal representative.

Your binding nomination will normally become invalid as soon as one of the following occurs:

- three years have lapsed from the date you signed the binding nomination form

Note: You will need to complete a new binding nomination form if you want to continue to have a binding nomination.

- any nominated beneficiary dies before you die
- any nominated beneficiary (other than the legal personal representative) is not a dependant at the date of your death
- you marry or enter into a de facto relationship after signing the binding nomination form
- you get divorced or cease your de facto relationship after signing the binding nomination form
- you make a non-binding nomination as described in Option 2 – Non-binding (or preferred) nomination
- you leave CustomSuper or SignatureSuper, other than if you are automatically transferred to an AMP personal superannuation account.

If your binding nomination is no longer valid, then we will automatically treat your binding nomination as a non-binding nomination—see Option 2 – Non-binding (or preferred) nomination.

Option 2 – Non-binding (or preferred) nomination

If you make a non-binding (or preferred) death benefit nomination, we will decide which of your beneficiaries (and in what proportions) will receive your benefit in the event of your death. We will generally pay your nominated beneficiary/beneficiaries—however, depending on your circumstances at the time of your death, we may decide to pay your death benefit differently.

When you make a nomination, we will not normally check whether:

- your nominated beneficiaries on the nomination form are your dependants or your legal personal representative
- you have signed or completed the nomination form correctly.

A non-binding nomination will continue to apply until you cancel or change your nomination. Therefore, it is important that you keep your non-binding nomination up to date in line with your personal circumstances. You can cancel or change your nomination at any time.

If you cancel your non-binding nomination without making another nomination, we must pay your death benefit in accordance with Option 3 – No nomination.

Option 3 – No nomination

If you don't make a nomination or you cancel your existing nomination, we must pay your death benefit to your Estate.

However, if your Estate is insolvent or if a Legal Personal Representative has not been appointed to manage your Estate within a reasonable period of time, then the Trustee will decide:

- which of your dependants will receive your death benefit and in what proportions (if you have dependants), or
- which other persons will receive your death benefit and in what proportions (if you have no dependants).

This means that if you do not have a non-binding nomination, you should consider making a will or altering your will to cover your account's death benefit.

Who is a dependant?

A dependant includes:

- your spouse (including a de facto spouse)
- your children (including an adopted child, a step child, or ex-nuptial child)
- any person who is financially dependent on you, and
- any person with whom you have an interdependency relationship (see below).

Note: A person must be a dependant on the date of your death to be considered as a beneficiary.

What is an interdependency relationship?

Two persons (whether or not related by family) have an interdependency relationship if:

- they have a close personal relationship, and
- they live together, and
- one or each of them provides the other with financial support, and
- one or each of them provides the other with domestic support and personal care.

An interdependency relationship also includes 2 persons (whether or not related by family):

- who have a close personal relationship, and
- who do not meet the other 4 criteria listed in the paragraph above because either or both of them have a physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability.

Beneficiary nomination
